PREFACE

The Independent Press of Ukraine 1988-1992 is a list of independently-published serials in Ukraine and also those appearing in the Ukrainian language in Poland, former Czechoslovakia and NIS countries. While it is called a union list, it encompasses only publications collected by the Library of Congress, Vernadsky National Library of the National Academy of Ukraine, Harvard Ukrainian Research Institute, and two private research centers in the United States: PROLOG (Research Corporation) and SMOLOSKYP (Ukrainian Information Service). The list covers the period from early 1988 to the end of December 1992, with the exception of some earlier imprints, e.g., "Ukrains'kyi visnyk."

During 1988-91, the period of Soviet demise, the Ukrainian independent press was in the forefront of the Ukrainian independence movement and a promoter of democracy in Ukraine.

The rise of the independent press is also testimony that normal society can develop despite decades of adverse conditions.

The range of the independent publications also testifies to the degree of pluralism found within the Ukrainian population. Their rejection of chauvinism, hostility towards ethnic minorities, and authoritarian nationalism in favor of evolutionary solutions to their problems, coupled with the introduction of a Western-style parliamentary and multi-party democracy, is equally borne out of the independent press. Many of the publications in this list are sponsored by various political, social, youth or religious organizations, and are published for a specific purpose--to advance a political, social, and religious goal or to promote certain specific ideas.

Each entry gives as much bibliographic information as was available to the compiler for the collection in the Library of Congress. These include title, number of issues, beginning and ending dates of publication (if discontinued), frequency (if available), motto, place of publication, publisher, address, telephone number(s), editors, and language if other than Ukrainian. All titles in this catalog were examined de visu and the bibliographic information and annotations were prepared accordingly only for titles in the Library of Congress. For publications from other institutions, their listings and holdings were accepted and entered into catalog as reported. Finally, we added also to this catalog titles found in Neuriadova presa Ukraïny (Kyïv, 1991), Aleksandr Suetnov, Samizdat : bibliograficheskiï ukazatel` (Moskva, Aprel' 1992) and Moskovskie kolleksii Samizdata, Spravochnik (Moskva, 1992).

All entries are transliterated according to the standard Library of Congress transliteration table (see Table of transliteration, p.). Geographic names of locations on the territory of Ukraine are cited in accordance with the present system of the U.S. Board of Geographic Names and the original publication, using Library of Congress transliteration. A small number of titles in this list were not available to the compiler for examination in hard copy, and citations for them were obtained from secondary sources. They are listed in this compilation because of their potential use as sources of information on events and developments in Ukraine.

To assist users of this list we included an index: personal names, places (cities of publication), and mottos.

The present list was prepared under the auspices of the Library of Congress's European Division. Special gratitude is extended to Mr. David H. Kraus, Assistant Chief of the European Division, for his encouragement, valuable advice, and generous assistance to the project. The compiler also wishes to express special thanks to O. Onyshchenko, Director of Vernadsky National Library, Petro Sodol (Prolog), Osyp Zinkevych (Smoloskyp), Ksenia Kiebuzynsky (HURI) for their contribution for this project. To the Head of the Newspaper Division at the Vernadsky National Library of Ukraine Ms. Tetiana Borysenko many thanks for her diligent work and assistance in introducing the Library's collections for the preparation of this list. I am thankful to Stephen Cranton, Computer Specialist in the European Division, for his patience in formatting and editing the text. My special thanks go to Ms. Shaunetta Workman for typing, rewriting, and creating a database maintained on ProCite 2.1 and edited in WordPerfect 8.

We hope that this list, a first attempt to collect and catalog the independent press of Ukraine, will serve as a useful guide to scholars and researchers with a special interest in Ukrainian national affairs.

НОТАТКИ ПРО НЕЗАЛЕЖНУ ПРЕСУ НА УКРАЇНІ

Термін «незалежна преса» - досить розпливчастий, нечіткий. Він включає дуже широке і різне коло періодичних видань, що з'явилися в СРСР, зокрема на Україні, після проголошення перебудови і гласності. Але передусім поняття «незалежна преса» охоплює численні суспільно-політичні та літературно-мистецькі видання, різноманітні за обсягом, географією, професійним та поліграфічним рівнем, накладом і т.д. і т.д., проте об'єднаних як суспільне явище, породжене саме умовами безцензури і всеохоплюючою спрагою за свободою слова.

В новітній історії початок незалежної преси на Україні іде від появи самвидаву в період хрущовської відлиги, а особливо -- від виходу в люди в січні 1970 року першого підпільного випуску журналу «Український вісник» (ред. В. Чорновіл).

Пропонований бібліографічний покажчик незалежної преси на Україні охоплює лише ті видання і в такому обсязі, як вони є зібрані в чотирьох дослідних центрах на Заході: Конгресової бібліотеки США, Гарвардського університету, а також видавничих об'єднань «Пролог» і «Смолоскип». Під час поїздок в Україну ЦНБ АНУ, Відділ преси ввели до покажчика їхні числа. Це перевірено de visu. Завершено покажчик поданням назв збережених в Московських бібліотеках, які спеціалізувалися в збиранні тодішньої незалежної преси. Серед вписаних тут в алфавітному порядку назв (за англійською абеткою) є й газети нововибраних демократичних рад (західних областей України), і друковані органи всіляких опозиційних партій-- зареєстрованих і незареєстрованих, і видання релігійних, мистецьких, молодіжних об'єднань тощо. Географічно покажчик включає найбільше видань з Києва, Львова та ін. громадсько активніших міст України (головно - обласних часом районних центрів). Незалежну пресу українців поза межами України репрезентують окремі зразки газетних видань з Москви («Украинский вопрос») і Прибалтійських країн (латвійська «Трибуна», литовський «Пролісок»), а також країн Східної Європи («Тарасова Україна» з Пряшівщини, «Відрижка», «Вісті Українського Національного руху Підляшшя» з Польщі).

Поряд з невеликими, іноді на 1-2 стор. газетами, незалежна преса може пишатися й такими літературно-мистецькими журналами, як згаданий вище «Український вісник», відновлений у 1987 році (випуски 7-14), «Кафедра» й «Пороги» -- органи Асоціації Незалежної Творчої Інтелігенції, «Євшан-зілля», «Карби гір» та ін.

З видань районного масштабу звертають на себе увагу такі, як «Вітер надії» (видання Горохівського осередку Руху та УРП на Волині), «Галицька зоря» (з Дрогобича) тощо.

Порівнюючи незалежну пресу України й інших регіонів Радянської імперії, журналіст Анатолій Доценко писав: «Коли в так званому Центрі демократи виходили на ксерокси и ротапінти, у нас листівки писались від руки. А по цих пишучих руках ще й намагались з усієї сили вдарити гумовим кийком».

І все ж, незалежна преса на Україні не лише зростає кількісно, а й поліпшується в плані фахового і поліграфічного рівня, часом переступаючи умовну межу неофіційності (наприклад. газета «Слово» - орган Товариства Української мови ім. Т. Шевченка, «Зелений світ» - орган Української екологічної Асоціації).

Можна не сумніватися, що ця перша спроба зібрати й описати незалежну пресу України стане незамінним путівником для багатьох дослідників бурхливих подій сучасної України.

Надія Світлична

НЕФОРМАЛЬНА ПРЕСА В УКРАЇНІ

Як говорив О. Грот, що основними завданнями газети було: інформувати, впливати, повчати та врешті розважати читача. Саме перші три напрямки дуже вдало використовувались не один рік. Багато років преса в Україні знаходилась під суворим наглядом - Комуністичної партії Радянського Союзу та Комуністичної партії України. І зрозуміло, що всі ці роки приходилось й бути вірним помічником влади, та і годувалась вона тими ж владними структурами, а на сторінках своїх відтворювала «Загальнопролетарську справу».

Давно, йще на етапі виникнення більшовицької партії, В.І. Ленін поставив жорстокі вимоги до партійної преси, за межі яких вона не виходила. Преса була стандартна і являлась маленьким коліщатком великого партійного механізму, була вона повністю підпорядкована ідеям побудови комунізму.

Гадалось, що так буде завжди, але проголошена у другій 80-х рр. М. Горбачовим політика гласності зняла кайдани з рук преси, і дуже активізувала розвиток нової преси, назвем її неформальною.

Вона зростає на могутній хвилі боротьби з існуючим режимом під гаслом незалежності. Перед неформальною пресою вже стоять зовсім інші задачі, підіймаються питання самостійності, суверенитету, символіки, зв'язків з українською діаспорою.

У 1989 р. в Україні вже виходить біля 50 таких видань, а в наступному році їх стає втричі більше. Це видання різних політичних партій /газ. «Вибір», «Вільне слово», «Віче», «Ломикамінь», «Рідний край», «Визволення», «Вільна земля» і т.д./, літературно-мистецьких об'єднань, товариств охорони природи, Товариства української мови /«Новий час», «В сім'ї вольній, новій»/, молодіжні та сатиричні видання, які видають єврейська, грецька, кримсько-татарська меншини на Україні /«Авдет», «Возрождение», «Ейникайт» і т.д./.

Центрами неформальної преси можна назвати Київ та Львів, це міста з потужним інтелектуальним потенціалом. Майже водночас з'являються вони в Житомирі, Харкові, Дніпропетровську, Ужгороді, Запоріжжі, Луцьку, Тернополі, а згодом і у невеличких містах: Гайсині, Лубнах, Білій Церкві, Броварах і т.д.

І дуже скоро майже по всій Україні виникає мережа незалежних видань, мають вони характер інформаційно-агітаційний, з'являються газети антикомуністичного спрямування за такими напрямками, як незалежні видання, видання студентських та молодіжних організацій, конфесійні видання, видання просвітянських організацій, преси НРУ, УГС, СНУМУ, видання національних меншин, що проживають на Україні.

Хвиля неформальних видань приголомшила читачів своєю відвертістю. Зібрати всі ці видання у єдину колекцію було важкою справою, скільки їх виходило неможливо сказати, але ми точно знаємо, що видання ці надзвичайно цікаві і багато років будуть досліджуватися і користуватися у читачів неабияким попитом.

На нашу думку, створення єдиного каталогу є дуже важлива справа, це дає можливість об'єднати ті видання, які зберігаються в колекціях бібліотек та установ в єдине ціле і проінформувати читачів про їх існування. Крім того доцільно було б обмінятися мікрофільмами і кожній із згаданих істанов мав би відносно нову колекцію.

IN LIEU OF INTRODUCTION - OVERVIEW: INDEPENDENT PRESS IN UKRAINE UNDER GORBACHEV¹

by Taras Kuzio

The word "samizdat" (in Ukrainian samvydav) was first coined in the 1960's to describe the new phenomenon of uncensored writings that appeared at that time. Samizdat (which means literally "self-publishing") was described by Vladimir Bukovsky as "I write it myself, censor it myself, print and disseminate it myself, and do time in prison for it myself."

The mechanism of samizdat was very simple: "the author types his work on a typewriter (the only means at the disposal of the average Soviet citizen), usually with four or five carbons, or photocopies it, and passes copies out to people he knows. If others are interested in the work, they make copies from their copy and distribute them among their friends." (Ludmilla Alexeyeva, "Soviet Dissent," p. 12.) Samizdat produced in this manner was extremely inefficient in the time and effort expended upon it.

INDEPENDENT PRESS UNDER GORBACHEV

This traditional perception cannot be reconciled with the huge number of publications that now appear in Ukraine and are no longer produced in this manner. The "uncensored" or "independent" press must be substituted.

The independent press is either printed or photocopied. Today, editors of the independent press often have at their disposal photocopiers, computers, and telefax machines which are no longer illegal, which have revolutionized the preparation and publication of independent journals in Ukraine, and which explain the large increase in titles and circulation.

Visiting the United States earlier this year, Mykola Ryabchuk, a young poet and leading member of Rukh, stated that "the number of publications in Ukraine is quite miserly compared to the number in such states as West Germany, France, and the United States." He suggested, "The problem could be solved by expanding the independent press published by informal organizations that have contributed to a diversification of the press in Ukraine."

In the larger cities such as L'viv, Kiev, and Kharkiv there are dozens of such newspapers and journals, some of good quality, while others still look like the primitive samvydav of the 1960's and 70's. He believes "this is the press of the future." (The Ukrainian Weekly, March 25, 1990.)

The Ukrainian Press Agency has on record independent Ukrainian titles that have appeared (or stopped publication) in Ukraine, Russia, the Baltic republics, Poland, and Czechoslovakia, as follows:

Ukraine	202
Russia	3
Baltic Republics	4
Poland	12
Czechoslovakia	1
Total	222

* Reprinted in abridged form with permission from Ukrainian Weekly (September - October 1990, no. 38-40).

The independent press of Ukraine is of four types:

- a) The majority of them are four-, eight-, or twelve-page newsletters/bulletins with print runs of 1,000 to 5,000, printed mainly in the Baltic republics (primarily in Riga and Vil'nius) because of a lack of access to printing equipment in Ukraine. Increasingly though, with the election of democratic local councils, printing is being undertaken within Ukraine.
- b) The weightier journals (for example, literary almanacs), which number at least 10 and average between 200 and 300 pages, are still typed on carbon paper with a circulation of only between 10 to 100. At this moment, the editors of these journals deliberately use typewriters because computer printers do not punch letters hard enough to make copies through carbon paper.
- c) Newspapers published by officially registered organizations such as Rukh (Popular Movement of Ukraine for Perebudova), Green World and the Ukrainian Language Society, have a monthly or bimonthly circulation of 10,000 copies each.
- d) Official newspapers are of these types: coopted by newly elected democratic councils, those which have defected to or have been set up by the Democratic Bloc, and those published by independent enterprises that support Rukh. The category first includes Moloda Halychyna in L'viv (Lenins'ka Molod' until March 1990). The second type is represented by Halychyna in Inavno-Frankivs'k and Za Vil'nu Ukraïnu (formed in response to the Communist Party's refusal to hand over the newspaper Vil'na Ukraina to the local democratic council). Agro (the information and advertising newspaper of the Agrofirma Prut in Kolomyia) is an example of the third type.

A STATISTICAL BREAKDOWN

This study will deal mainly with the independent press of Ukraine, for which we have 222 titles on record, but the true figure is undoubtedly higher in that not all titles published reach the West.

Outside Ukraine, three titles appear in Moscow, two of which, Ukrainskiï Vopros and Natsional'nyi Vopros, are in Russian and are published by the Ukrainian Helsinki Union (UHU), now the Ukrainian Republican Party (URP), while a third, Pora, is in Ukrainian and published by the Ukrainian Youth Club (a pro-Rukh group).

In the Baltic republics four publications appear in Ukrainian communities and are supportive of the local popular fronts. They are Trybuna and Dzherelo (Riga, Ukrainian Youth Club), Prolisok (Vilnius) and Struny (Tallinn).

In Ukraine, the 222 titles can be broken down into the following nine categories: Rukh - 47, UHU/URP - 25, youth - 31, political groups - 31, educational/literary - 22, general - 19, national minorities - 16, religious - 7, and Greens - 3.

The largest number of independent publications produced by a single group in Ukraine are those published by Rukh, comprising 26.6 percent of the total number. They include the monthly Narodna Hazeta, with a circulation of 10,000. Most of these publications began after the inaugural congress of Rukh in September 1989. The number also reflects Rukh's achievement in establishing itself throughout the republic, its umbrella function and the charisma and high profile (as leading literati) of many of its top officials. Many top Rukh officials were elected as parliamentarians, with live television and radio coverage of the proceedings. This and the Declaration of State Sovereignty, will have reinforced the image in many people's minds of Rukh as the main protagonist taking on the Communist Party (a position similar to Solidarity's in Poland and the Civic Forum's in Czechoslovakia).

Of the 47 Rukh publications, 32 are published in central-eastern Ukraine, and of these, 10 are published in Kiev, where Rukh has its main office. The high figure for western Ukraine, in relation to its small proportionate size, reflects the higher national consciousness and greater development of civil society in that region.

Nevertheless, in many highly Russified regions of the south-eastern Ukraine, Rukh is the only organization that actually exists and is seen to be publishing a regular local newspaper. Rukh, as a mobilizing force, is also probably needed more in central-eastern Ukraine, where it has helped to raise national consciousness and channel popular demands, than in the western region of the republic.

Events organized by Rukh, such as the human chain of half a million people on the anniversary of the 1918-1919 Ukrainian declaration of independence and an act of union of all Ukrainian lands, have undoubtedly implanted the image of Rukh as an important institution bringing unity at a crucial juncture in Ukrainian history.

In Kiev, Rukh issues a number of specialized publications. Svit, although not formally published by Rukh, specializes in translations from the western press. Others include Ohliadach, reporting upon the parliamentary proceedings, Express Novyny and Ohliad Podiï, presenting a chronology of events around Ukraine, Visnyk Rukhu, giving a stenographic record of Rukh meetings, and Za Narodnyiï Parliament, one of many which specialized in coordinating the election campaign. The Rukh flagship is, of course, Narodna Hazeta.

The Ukrainian Republican Party (formerly the Ukrainian Helsinki Union), the oldest and best organized dissident group in Ukraine, has leading members who are very popular and have been elected as parliamentarians of local council members. Many are also respected because they were imprisoned under Brezhnev.

The figure of 25 UHU/URP publications outstrips any other individual political party, the majority of which came on the scene far later. Re-established in March 1988, the UHU immediately re-launched publications, such as the Ukrains'kyï Visnyk, which had appeared earlier and had editorial boards which could be quickly reassembled. These publications benefitted from their reporting them.

The high figures of Rukh and UHU/URP publications are another reflection of the creative talent and intelligentsia exists within both those organizations.

The UHU/URP flagship was the 200- to 300-page quarterly Ukrains'kyï Visnyk, edited by Vyacheslav Chornovil and produced in the old samvydav manner. Seven issues of Ukrains'kyï Visnyk appeared (numbered 7-14) between August 1987 and 1989, which were reprinted in the West by the External Representation of the UHU.

The current flagship of the UHU/URP is Holos Vidrozhennia, edited by Serhiy Naboka (head of the UHU/URP information center in Kiev). The popularity of the UHU/URP in the western Ukraine is evidenced by the 25 publications, 12 (46 percent) appear there. Of the remaining 13, just under half (6) appear in Kiev city (including Tsentral'na Rada, which is published by UHU/URP supporters).

Some of the UHU/URP titles no longer appear, such as Obizhnyk, Opovisnyk, and the UHU press service weekly Informator.

Two of the titles are information services: Informator and L'vivs'ki Novyny, which had their greatest resonance in Ukraine when they were read out over Western radio stations such as Radio Liberty. Some of the titles are Na Ruïni (Kiev); Volia (Chernihiv), and Ternystyi Shliakh (Ternopil').

YOUTH

The list classed under "Youth Groups" includes 31 titles, 69.5 percent of which are published in western and 30.5 percent in central-eastern Ukraine. These, in turn, are divided as follows: SNUM/SUM - 13; political - 7; students - 9; independent - 2.

The largest youth organization is SNUM, the Association of Independent Ukrainian Youth, originally established by the UHU and now incorporating 3,000 members. In connection with, but much smaller, is the more radical SUM, or Association of Ukrainian Youth based primarily in eastern Ukraine.

SNUM publishes Molodyi Nationalist (L'viv), Surma (Stryi), Za Voliu (Poltava), Sokil (Volyn'), Shkil'nyi Visnyk (L'viv), Desnians'ki Khvyli (Chernihiv), and Zamkova Hora (Kiev). Zamkova Hora is no longer labeled as SNUM publication (as of July), but instead the phrase has been added: "Published with the help of the Ukrainian Nationalist Club, Kiev," and is the organ of "SNUM-Nationalists" who split from SNUM in July espousing an integral nationalist ideology.

The remaining SUM publications are primarily published by an active branch in Chernivtsi: Nasha Spilka, Smoloskyp, Sumivs'ke Slovo, and Ukrains'ka Sprava. Poklyk (Kosiv) and Homin Voli (Kharkiv) are also in this category.

The seven political publications include the journal Rada, appearing in Kiev and close to SNUM-Nationalists, Vilna Ukraina, Dzvin Probudzhennia, Moloda Ukraïna (which until issue No. 6 was the organ of the Lviv branch of SNUM), Ukrains'ke Iunatstvo (Stryi Tovarystvo Parostky) and even one published by the L'viv Komsomol in an attempt to halt their collapse into obscurity, Dialoh. Khronika Oporu, published by the youth branch of the UHU in Kiev has ceased publication.

The nine student publications include two which no longer appear: Khronika Oporu and Dzvin published by Hromada. Hromada was one of the first informal groups to exist in Kiev under Gorbachev. It established itself in March 1988 but by the middle of 1989 it had ceased to exist. The publications of the new student movement established ??? are Ukrains'ke Studentstvo (Ukrainian Students Union, Kiev), Bratstvo, Hriundik (a satirical newsletter), Viko (Student Brotherhood, L'viv), Budytel' (Zakarpattia students, L'viv), Levatyva (Student Brotherhood, L'viv), and Nasha Sprava (Chervona Kalyna Student Society, Ternopil').

In addition, two independent youth publications appear: Polityka (which is the organ of the Association of Youth Organizations, Kiev) and Svit Dytyny (a children's magazine published by Tovarystvo Leva, L'viv).

POLITICAL GROUPS

The total number of publications classed under "political groups" is 31. These divided as follows according to their orientation: Social Democratic - 15; National Democratic - 7; nationalist - 8; strike committee - 1.

A perhaps surprising fact is the large number of left-of-center independent publications, that are evenly distributed between western and eastern Ukraine. The Democratic Platform of the Ukrainian Communist Party publishes Demokratychnyi Vybir in Ukrainian and Demokraticheski Vybory in Russian.

The Ukrainian Deputies Club (established originally as a branch of Boris Yeltsin's InterRegional Group) has changed its two organs--Holos (Ukrainian) and Golos (Russian)--to the publication of the organizing committee of the Democratic Party of Ukraine (the inaugural congress of which is scheduled for this year). The Democratic Party of Ukraine (led by Dmytro Pavlychko and Iuriy Badzio) is likely to be a mass party because it will be an offshoot of Rukh, and therefore undoubtedly it will lead to an expansion in the independent press in Ukraine.

Other social-democratic titles are published by small groups, such as the Ukrainian Social-Constructivites (Rozdumy, Rivne), Anarcho-Syndicalists (Nabat, Kharkiv, in Russian) and the Radical Group (Za i Proty, L'viv). The Ukrainian Social-Democratic Party, launched in May, published in 1988 Na Polnyi Golos (L'viv), and now publishes in L'viv both Reforma and the weekly Al'ternatyva in separate Ukrainian and Russian editions; while in Kiev they publish the journal Dialog (in Russian). Sotsial Demokrat Ukrainy and Osvobozhdeniye both are published in Kiev in Russian by the Social Democratic Federation of Ukraine. Under the orientation "National Democrats" these are seven titles, two of which-Al'ternatyva and Homin Perebudovy-no longer appear. These are more evenly distributed with only half appearing in western Ukraine. In Kiev, there are two publications published by the Ukrainian National Democratic Party (Bulletin-Dokumenty), and one by the Ukrainian Democratic peasants Party (Vil'na Zemlia).

The Ukrainian Christian Democratic Party, one of the oldest national-democratic groups established in the winter of 1988, publishes Voskresinnia in Ivano-Frankiv'sk and Za Viru i Voliu in Ternopil' (on the pages of Posvit, organ of Tovarystvo Vertep).

Of the seven nationalist publications, one (Samostiĭnist') is soon to appear through the efforts of the organization Ukrainian Independence and Statehood, led by Ivan Kandyba and established in April. It already publishes Poklyk Voli. Five out of the seven, as we would expect, are based in L'viv, capital of the highly nationalistic western Ukraine. Only one - Zoloti Vorota - appears in Kiev, although this is published by an individual (Pavlo Skochok), and not an organization.

The journal Ukrains'kyĭ Chas with the supplement Poezia-Chas, appears in L'viv edited by Hryhorii Prykhodko. It became the organ of the Ukrainian National Party after this group was launched in the winter of 1989. Ukrains'kyĭ Chas is reprinted in the West by Petro Ruban. The Ukrainian National Party also publishes the monthly Informatsiĭnyi Biuletyn' and Visnyk UNP in Lviv.

There is also an independent newspaper, called Al'ternatyva, which is published in Pavlohrad, eastern Ukraine. In view of the large workers' movements, free trade unions and strikes in areas like the Donbas, it is perhaps surprising that there are no publications catering to this market. The failure of Rukh to link intellectuals to workers within a mass Solidarity-style movement, which is made all the more difficult because workers in eastern Ukraine are Russified, coupled with the failure of the intelligentsia to produce samvydav that caters solely to the working classes, all play a role here.

The only bulletin catering to a strike committee (also called the Committee in Defense of Society) is L'vivs'kyĭ Visnyk, which was established after the police action against demonstrators on October 1, 1989, in L'viv, brings together national and social demands. This fusion of national and socio-economic demands, possible in Poland and western Ukraine, is more difficult in southeastern Ukraine where national consciousness is lower.

EDUCATIONAL/LITERACY

Within the educational and literary section there are 22 titles, 65 percent of which appear in western and 35 percent in central-eastern Ukraine.

These are divided into five subcategories: Memorial/Spadshchyna, six; Ukrainian Association of Independent Creative Intelligentsia, five; Ukrainian Language Society, four; youth, three; and general, four.

In the light of the huge loss of life inflicted upon central and eastern Ukraine during the Great Terror, one is surprised to find few Memorial or Spadshchyna publications in that region.

In western Ukraine, Dzvin (Ternopil'), Poklyk Sumlinnia (L'viv), and Rany (Ivano-Frankiv'sk) are published by Memorial and deal extensively with the terror of the first Soviet occupation (1939-1941), the military struggle during the 1940's and the deportations. The bulletin Spadshchyna is also published by the L'viv branch of the same organization. In Kiev, Chasopys is published by Spadshchyna and Kolokol by Memorial.

The Ukrainian Association of Independent Creative Intelligentsia (UANTI) was established in the winter of 1987 and designed to act as an independent writers' union. UANTI published five thick literary journals, averaging 200 to 300 pages each: Porohy (Dnipropetrovske), Snip (Kharkiv), Kafedra (L'viv), Ievshan Zillia (L'viv), and Karby Hir (Kolomyia). Most of the members of the editorial boards were former political prisoners.

Kafedra has been reprinted in the West by the External Representation of the Ukrainian Helsinki Union and Smoloskyp.

The youth category includes two titles produced by the active L'viv-based Tovarystvo Leva: Postup and Skarbnytsia; and a third by Tovarystvo Vertep in Ternopil: Posvit.

The Taras Shevchenko Ukrainian Language Society produces the high-circulation bimonthly Slovo in 10,000 copies, Prosvita (in both Lviv and Rivne) and Mova le Natsiia. Others in this category include four published by various groups: Krok, published by the educational-Cultural Society Rukh in Ivano-Frankivsk; Hornlyo, a periodical of the All-Ukrainian Brotherhood; Kolo, published in 1989 by the Culturological Club in Kiev; and Tustan, a literary/art journal published in Truskavets', L'viv Oblast.

GENERAL

The category designated general includes 19 titles, of which 62.5 percent appear in central-eastern and 37.5 percent in western Ukraine. The 19 are divided into the following subgroups: information agencies, nine (plus one soon to appear); independent, two, translations, two, satirical, two, elections, two, and community, one. The first subgroup includes the following publications issued by agencies or are the names of the agencies themselves: Kozats'ke Slovo, Kurier Smoloskypu, Nova Doba, and the additional periodical Kureni, Tsentral'no Ukrain's'ke Nezalezhne Informatsiĭne Ahentstvo (Dnipropetrovs'k, linked to the Ukrainian National Party), Buzhany (Chervonohrad, Independent Press Center), Taki Spravy, Perspektyva, Shliakhy, Svoboda, Ukrain's'ki Nezalezhni Novyny and the planned Holos Ukrainy newspaper (Ukrainian Independent Publishing and Information Center-UNVIS).

Two publications specialize in translations from the Western press and reprinting from emigre literature: Sposterihach and Svit (the latter supported by Rukh).

The two satirical newspaper are called Zupa (Nezalezhna Literaturna Strava) and Sal'tseson (Narodnyĭ Rukh Ukraĭny za Kovbasu).

One title - Vidsich - is published by the anti-alcoholism society, Bratstvo Tverezosti "Vidsich" established in August 1989 in L'viv.

Under independent groups, there are some publications that are close to Rukh, such as the Russian-language Forum (Dnipropetrovs'k), Puti and Vil'ne Slovo (both in Kiev). Two publications are solely devoted to elections: Vyborche Pravo (L'viv) and Novyĭ Chas (Kamianka-Buzka). The Rukh publication - Za Narodnyĭ Parliament - which was also established to specialize in the 1990 election campaign is included separately within the Rukh group of publications.

NATIONAL MINORITIES

Of the 22 percent of the population in Ukraine who are non-Ukrainians, few are politically active (no "internationalist" movement: exists in Ukraine). There are 16 publications catering to the Russian and Jewish population. Yet there are no Polish or Russian independent publication catering to the political needs of these national minorities, perhaps because the former is small in number while the latter is well cared for by the official-press Russified educational and cultural institutions and the independent press brought from Moscow. The following Russian-language publications do not, on the whole represent any political party: Nasha Gazeta (Kiev), Pochtovyĭ Iashchik (Kharkiv), Prizyv (Kiev, Union of Democratic Action), Yedinstvo (Kharkiv, Democratic Assembly), Neformal (Prokrovka, Voluntary Association in Defense Society), Prorab Perestroiky (Dnipropetrovske), Yuzhnyĭ Vestnik (Dnipropetrovske), Pol Slova (organ of the Ukrainian voters association), and Svobodnyĭ Rebenok (Dnipropetrovske). The Russian Democratic Union opposition group is active in southeastern Ukraine and publishes Slovo in Mariupil.

The Jewish minority is, by all accounts, one of the most active with five independent publications that all support Rukh: Khadashot (Kiev, in Russian and Ukrainian), Informatsionnyi Biulletin (Chernivtsi), Vozrozhdeniea (Kiev Jewish Cultural and Educational Society, Kiev), and Shofar (Lviv, in Russian and Ukrainian).

The Ukrainian committee Friends of Armenia, which is linked to Rukh, publishes Asatamart in Russian in Kiev.

RELIGION

Despite the tremendous importance and high percentage of believers in Ukraine, there are only seven independent religious publications. The Ukrainian Catholic Church no longer publishes Khrystiansky Holos (successor to The Chronicle of the Catholic Church in Ukraine), but prints Dobryi Pastyr (Ivano-Frankivs'ke) and launched Vira Batkiv (L'viv) in 1990.

The Ukrainian Autocephalous Orthodox Church publishes the newspaper Nasha Vira in Kiev, edited by Yevhen Sverstiuk, the journal Tserkva i Zhyttia (Kiev), Vidrodzhennia (Lviv), and Svitlo Viry (Luts'ke).

GREENS

The Greens, grouped around Green World and the soon-to-be-established Ukrainian Green Party, are a registered organization and therefore are able to publish the monthly mass circulation Zelenyi Svit newspaper in 10,000 copies. In addition, the local branches of Green World publish Zelenyi Dzvyn in L'viv and Na Spolokh in Drohobych.

CONCLUSION

The independent press in Ukraine has established itself as an integral component of the political and social landscape. If we use the publications as a barometer of the level of political activity, we can see that western Ukraine, which accounts for only fifth of the republic's territory often supplies over half of the publications in a particular category. Political opposition groups are well established in western Ukraine, young people are more active there and civil society progressed much farther. Rukh is the exception to this rule, publishing more in central-eastern than western Ukraine. Apart from Rukh in central-eastern Ukraine, the only other political movement in that region is often the Ukrainian Republican Party. The need for Rukh as a mobilizing force for unity is needed more in central-eastern Ukraine which experienced many decades of Tsarist and Stalinist rule.

The rise of the independent press is also testimony that normal civil society can develop (albeit more slowly in eastern than western Ukraine) despite decades of adverse conditions. The small dissident groups of the pre-Gorbachev era were, it seems, the tip of iceberg.

The range of independent publications also testifies to the degree of pluralism of opinion found within the Ukrainian population. Their rejection of chauvinism, hostility towards ethnic minorities, and authoritarian nationalism in favor of an evolutionary solution to their problems, coupled with the introduction of a Western-style parliamentary and multi-party democracy, is equally borne out in these statistics.
