

ANNOTATION

ACTUAL PROBLEMS OF EDUCATIONAL AND UPBRINGING PROCESS OF EDUCATIONAL INSTITUTIONS

I. Kazanzhy „Upbringing of primary school pupils' tolerant behaviour”

The article deals with necessity of tolerant behaviour upbringing in the primary school age. In the article criterions and exponents of tolerance in the educational environment of the first school degree are defined, the upbringing system of the junior school pupils' tolerant behaviour are described.

Keywords: tolerance, tolerant behaviour, educational environment, tolerance functions, upbringing system of tolerant behaviour.

N. Malinovska „Speech development of children of early age by means of folklore”

In the article it is defined the influence of small forms of folklore on the development of children through the first three years of life. The peculiarities of methods of using folklore works with children of early age are revealed. The specificity of application of folklore-playing classes in preschool institution environment is outlined. Pedagogical conditions of speech development of children by means of folklore are substantiated.

Key words: development, speech, folklore, folk genres, folk games.

A. Romanyuk „Teaching of registration disciplines in the conditions of application of modern information and computer technologies”

In the article the real state and perspective directions of application of information and computer technologies is considered at teaching of registration disciplines. Investigational expedience of the practical use of forms of the controlled from distance studies.

Keywords: informative system, controlled from distance studies, interactive, interactive studies, interactive technologies, informative model of teaching.

V. Shuliar „Main categories of modern lesson of Ukrainian literature”

The author identified and analyzed a number of basic categories of modern lesson of Ukrainian literature (MLUL) from the standpoint of system approach; the structure of (MLUL) filed two sets of principles and strategies typology (MLUL).

Keywords: structure, types, principles of structuring, strategies typology (MLUL).

S. Yakymenko „Dytynotsentrychna concept of family education in the scientific heritage V. Sukhomlynsky”

The article includes materials common rules for forming a fully developed child and ensure the success of the natural development of the child according to his individual abilities and interests. Reveals the essence of the process of family education, moral values in the family, the individuality of each person. V. Sukhomlynsky reveals views on the educational process in its creative heritage.

Keywords: education, family relationships, child development, moral values, heritage V. Sukhomlynsky.

ACTUAL PROBLEMS OF TRAINING SPECIALISTS IN HIGHER EDUCATIONAL INSTITUTIONS

O. Bilyk „Role of Ukrainian Culture in the Socialization Process of International Students in the Educational and Cultural Environment of a Higher Educational Institution”

The paper deals with the specific character of the socialization process of international students in the context of the dialogue of cultures, applying Ukrainian cultural traditions in their social and professional development. The features of the development of educational and cultural environment for international students at institutions of higher education are examined. The author analyzes the activities of the center of cross-cultural communication and social integration for international students as a component of this environment.

Keywords: international students, educational and cultural environment, socialization, Ukrainian culture, cultural traditions.

V. Bondar „Features of forming of tolerance for future psychologists in higher educational establishments”

The concept of tolerance, and also meaningfulness of tolerance, is analysed in the article as to the making professional competence of psychologist. The basic pedagogical terms of forming of tolerance are certain for future psychologists in the process of teaching in higher educational establishments.

Keywords: tolerance, individuality, society, psychologist, professional competence.

Voytsikh I. „Criteria and levels of formation of emotional competence of future psychologists in the process of professional preparation”

In the article the author defines criteria and levels of formation of emotional competence of future psychologists in the process of professional preparation. The essence of emotional competence of future psychologists is defined by the unity of its structural components: cognitive (knowledge body), activity ones (a set of abilities and skills), personal (set of qualities), motivational value (a set of motives and values). Designated structural components were the basis for the development of criteria and corresponding indicators and levels that characterize the formation of emotional competence of future psychologists in the process of professional training. From the position of the system approach, the following levels of emotional competence were defined: low, average, sufficient, high.

Keywords: „emotional competence”, cognitive criterion, activity criterion, personal criterion, motivational and value criterion, level of formation of knowledge of students, levels of formation of emotional competence of future psychologists in the process of professional training.

M. Zaitseva, A. Anischenko „Training of tourism industry”

The article covers the problem of development of tourism in Ukraine at the present stage, the closely related with the preparation of highly qualified personnel, which is currently at a low level. Pressing tasks are: training, skills development and training, and related occupations specialists in the sphere of tourism industry, formation of the business professionals with the knowledge of the new rapidly changing economic conditions on the global and domestic markets tourist services.

Keywords: tourism, tourism development strategy, innovative type of training highly skilled personnel, training.

O. Yurchuk „Features of the future preschool teachers’ professional training to the implementation of the preschool children’s motor mode”

Different theoretical approaches to the study of teaching abilities, the list of the preschool teacher’s abilities necessary in the implementation of the active motor mode in the preschool educational establishments are defined, conditions of the improvement of the effective future teachers’ training to the children’s motor mode implementation are considered in the article.

Key words: teaching, abilities motor mode, professional training.

ACTUAL PROBLEMS OF TEACHING AND UPBRINGING CHILDREN AND YOUTH IN INTEGRATED EDUCATIONAL ENVIRONMENT

L. Ditkovska „Information and communication technologies in the social adaptation for persons with disabilities”

In the article the author identified uses of ICT in the process of social adaptation for persons with disabilities, considered the possibility of using ICT social workers to perform almost all functions of professional activity, offered virtual jobs for persons with disabilities.

Keywords: social adaptation, persons with disabilities, information and communication technology, ICT competence.

S. Drazhnytsya, T. Nekluenko „Importance of individual style and means of communication enhancement communicative university professors in the integrated group”

Using personal experiences and individual teaching spetsdystrylin communicating with students in integrated student groups authors have analyzed and identified the importance of this communication, and based on the analysis suggested means of improving communicative and studentotsentryzmu teachers in the activities of the integrated groups.

Keywords: communication, communication, integrated group zisoby communications.

S. Omelchenko „Peculiarities of entering students with limited abilities to the inclusive educational environment of higher educational institution”

The questions of peculiarities of entering students with limited abilities to inclusive educational environment of higher educational institution are reviewed in this article, telling more exactly, the normative and legal base of giving educational services to students-invalids is analyzed, the principles and barriers of implementation of inclusion in educational environment of higher educational institution are determined; the analysis of peculiarities of distant education of students with limited functional abilities in conditions of higher educational institution is done.

Keywords: students with limited abilities, inclusive educational environment, higher educational institution, distant education of students with limited functional abilities.

O. Poliovik „Experience of social and educational work with children with special needs in inclusive and integrated secondary schools in the Khmelnytsky”

In the article the problem of education for children with special needs in inclusive and integrated secondary schools in the city. Khmelnytsky, analyzed the experience of social and educational work with pupils who have impaired mental and physical development in Khmelnytsky specialized secondary schools №8 and №15; described directions, forms and methods of work of the specialists of these schools with children with special needs and their parents.

Keywords: children with special needs, integrated and inclusive form of education, socio-educational activities, specialized schools.

O. Savchyk „Peculiarities of training students with hearing impairments in the study disciplines of natural science preparation”

The peculiarities of professional training of students with deviations in hearing during the studying of disciplines of cycle of natural and scientific training are described in this article. The effectiveness of educational activity for the students of the category, mentioned above, one of the pedagogic conditions is the providing of complex approach to the educational and upbringing process, which gives high qualitative evaluation to the level of training of specialists in the sphere of social service, that will help them to adopt on the market of educational services.

Keywords: professional training, inclusion, natural and scientific training, students with special needs.

M. Chaikovsky „The analysis of efficiency of pedagogical technologies of social and educational work with young people with special needs in the university”

This article provides empirical efficiency analysis developed and implemented by the author of pedagogical techniques of social and educational work with young people with special needs in terms of inclusive educational space of higher education institution for motivational-value criteria and the criteria of social and psychological inclusive competence of inclusive special competence.

Keywords: young people with special needs, socio-pedagogical work, pedagogical technology, inclusive educational environment.

ACTUAL QUESTIONS OF SOCIAL WORK AND SOCIAL PEDAGOGICS

K. Ignatenko „The theory of attachment in context of estimation of the needs assessment of orphans”

In the article the considered features of theory of attachment are in the context of the needs assessment of orphan and foster family. Some facts of opening of theory of attachment, mechanism of forming of attachment, open up, and also factors on which it is needed the social worker pay attention to during realization of estimation of necessities and social accompaniment of foster families are transferred. Maintenance and reasons of the broken attachment is described.

Keywords: theory of attachment, the needs assessment, John Boulbi, description of attachment, types of the broken attachment.

J. Klochan „Social-pedagogical prevention of delinquent behavior of pupils of vocational and technical schools: essence, methods, forms”

The essence, purpose, tasks, methods, forms of social-pedagogical prevention of delinquent behavior of pupils of vocational and technical schools are examined in this article. The effective methods, forms of preventive work with pupils which assume their active positions, direct participation in the events are investigated. The methods of work of the social pedagogue with teaching staff, pupils' parents, representatives of various social institutions about the prevention of delinquent behavior in the pupils environment have been analyzed.

Keywords: social-pedagogical prevention, delinquent behavior, social-pedagogical environment.

S. Konstantinova, S. Konstantinov „Dynamics of formation of value orientations of students' youth of Ukraine”

The theoretical analysis of peculiarities of formation of value orientations of youth of Ukraine is done in this article, the analysis of modern students' likings is done in the whole.

Keywords: value orientations, values, students' youth, orientation, personality.

O. Korablova „The results of research of mobbing prevention in small groups of students in secondary schools”

The importance of problem is caused by the widespread of phenomenon and insufficient study of peculiarities of mobbing prevention in the theory and practice of social pedagogy. The article considers the nature and studies some aspects of mobbing prevention. In order to study certain aspects of mobbing prevention in small groups of adolescent schoolchildren, there was conducted a survey among the form-masters of small groups of adolescent schoolchildren, psychologists and social workers in number of schools. It was established that in all schools covered by the survey, measures to prevent mobbing were adjacent to the subject. These measures did not have a direct bearing on prevention of particular problem and mostly predicted the violence in general.

Keywords: mobbing, mobbing prevention, small groups of students

Y. Mykhaylichenko „The theoretical basis of the most common models of social and pedagogical protection children from domestic violence”

In the article the basic scientific theoretical concepts underlying the most common modern practical models of social-pedagogical prevention of child abuse in the family. Proved that the basic strategy of prevention of all kinds, the most efficient and effective means of preventing child abuse is a comprehensive, multi-level strategies to address its causes.

Keywords: social-pedagogical prevention, child abuse, children's rights, combating domestic violence.

N. Ostrovska „Conceptual provisions of developing socio-pedagogical technology of conscious parenting youth”

The article defines and meaningfully disclosed conceptual provisions that are the basis of social and educational development of the technology of forming conscious parenting youth in the activities of the territorial community; technological approach analyzes the socio-educational activities; and formulated the definition of „technology of conscious parenting youth in the activities of the territorial community”.

Keywords: conscious parenting, social and educational activities, conceptual provisions technology of conscious parenting youth.

A. Ryzhanova „Social-pedagogical promotion of Ukraine's integration processes and improvement of corresponding specialists' professional training”

The article contains the proof of social pedagogy's importance for strengthening Ukraine's consolidation on internal level and on external european level through social education means under conditions of humanity's information society establishment. Corresponding theoretical and practical aspects of future specialists' professional training improvement for promotion of state citizens' social subjectness dynamics, of their sociality's regional and global component establishment are presented.

Keywords: social pedagogy, information society, integration processes of Ukraine, future social pedagogues' professional training.

I. Syomkina „Social-pedagogical work with families displaced persons: Status and Prospects”

In the article the author analyzes the current state of social and educational work with the families of internally displaced persons in Ukraine, analyzes the technology of social and educational work with this category of clients, namely technology of social protection of family and social support technology family.

Keywords: social and pedagogical work, families displaced persons, social-educational technology.

PSYCHO-PEDAGOGICAL ASPECTS OF FORMATION OF PERSONALITY

N. Volynets, S. Schyran „Psychological influence of advertisement on behavior of consumer”

In the article the features of psychological influence of advertisement of influence are outlined on a psyche and behavior of people, the emotional, cognitive and behavioral components of advertisement influence, psychological factors of influence on a consumer, and also psychological features of informing, convincing and reminding advertisements, receptions and methods of psychological influence on consumers are described.

Keywords: advertisement, components of advertisement influence, psychological factors of influence on a consumer, methods and receptions of psychological influence of advertisement.

L. Kalmykova „Psychological features of anxiety in patients with dyslalia”

In this article the author reveals the problem of the child with speech disorders, manifested inhibited because a defect makes her speech strongly limit its use, and this in turn limits its communications are needed for socialization. These children are marked difficulty in forming gnosis (impaired perception, reduced volatility and attention), spatial and temporal synthesis praxis (productive activity), ie mental qualities indirect speech. Also, in this article the author reveals the problem of psychological features of anxiety in patients with impaired speech ontogenesis different depending on age, sex and, in fact, speech defects.

Keywords: anxiety, dyslalia, a child with speech disorders.

S. Kondratyuk, L. Serdechna „Theoretical justification for psychological defense mechanisms of personality”

The paper presents a theoretical study of psychological defense mechanisms, including the analysis of scientific literature on the theoretical justification domestic and foreign scientists psychological defense mechanisms. Based on sources the definition and types of psychological defense, negative and positive effects on personality psychological defense.

Keywords: psychological defense, defense mechanisms, psychological defense mechanisms.

L. Levytska, T. Povorozniuk „Some aspects of psychological readiness for professional activity of social professions”

The article highlights some aspects of psychological readiness for professional activity of social professions. The theoretical examination of requirements and qualities which provide or hinder successful execution of professional activity is done. The article deals with the features of the process of formation of psychological readiness of future social workers, psychologists, physical rehabilitators to the profession.

Keywords: readiness, psychological readiness, social profession, future specialist.

A. Fradynska, V. Korzh „Social and psychological factors of spiritual growth of the personality in adolescence”

This article provides theoretical analysis of the socio-psychological factors of spiritual growth of the personality in adolescence. The system of values in the context of which spirituality operates includes both moral and civic values. The report also states that factors affecting the individual spirituality are divided into three groups including:

Keywords: spirituality, adolescence, growth, social and psychological factors.

A. Fradynska, N.-M. Kuzyk „Psychological peculiarities of professional competence of teachers”

In the article the content of the psychological peculiarities of professional competence of teachers; the notions of competence as the psychological aspect of becoming a professional educators. Theoretical analysis of attitudes and beliefs on the subject of many scientists identified and characterized components and criteria of psychological competence of the teacher.

Keywords: psychological peculiarities of development, competence, professional competence, psychological competence.

ACTUAL QUESTIONS OF TRAINING SPECIALISTS IN PHYSICAL EDUCATION AND HUMAN HEALTH

L. Izbash „The structure and components of the health culture of personality”

In the article the author revealed the structure and components of the culture of health of the person. The content of each component of the culture of health and their relationship and interaction in the formation of the integrity of the concept of „culture of health”. Theoretical publications devoted to this problem. The system approach and theoretical methods of analysis, synthesis, comparison, generalization.

Keywords: health culture, identity, structure, components of health culture, and students.

L. Kravchuk, V Matviychuk, V. Pucha „Physiology of movement – top condition for the effectiveness mental capacity of students in educational activities”

The article deals with the peculiarities of physiology movement that is leading efficiency by mental performance of students in educational activities, as physical activity is important, fundamental factor in the formation, preservation, improvement of human health, especially in childhood, adolescence and early adulthood.

Keywords: physical activity, mental capacity, students, workload, educational activities.

A. Mozolev, A. Koshura „The development of physical education in higher education in Poland at the turn of XX-XXI century”

In the article the analysis of development of physical education students in higher education in Poland in the 90-ies of XX and early XXI century. Identifies the main legal documents that have an impact on the development of the system of physical education in higher education institutions. Main directions of development of physical education in higher education in Poland.

Keywords: physical education, higher education, system, law, organization.

V. Faydevych „Technology of designing modular training physical training university students”

In the article the author are constructing modular technology training university students, which includes: setting goals and clarifying its maximum; Only strict orientation course for the purpose of educational process; orientation objectives, and with them – the whole process to achieve guaranteed results; assessment of current results, correction of physical education aimed at achieving this goal; final score results.

Keywords: students, physical education, technology, engineering, modular training.