Semeniuk N., candidate of philosophy, Associate professor, Ukraine, Khmelnytsky

Modernization of lifelong education in Ukraine as a social assignment

One of the principles of the Bologna process is to increase access to educational services through the development of lifelong learning. This approach involves not only learning part-time, or creation of learning opportunities at work, but also gaining skills, formation of competencies based on the different forms of learning. Ukrainian society forms its own philosophy of education, but «patching» of some areas in favor of the principles of entry into the European space will not solve the problems. There is a need in Ukraine to develop theoretically substantiated and practically significant conceptual approaches to the organization of lifelong learning. In order to create an effective lifelong education in the country and ensure its development in line with European trends, its legal and juristic field should be deployed based on the key principles of lifelong European education.
