

ANNOTATION

Olexandr DZYUBLYUK

The monetary-credit policy as factor of the macroeconomic stabilization and overcoming of consequences of the crisis phenomena

Terms and efficiency of application of basic instruments of monetary-credit regulation by the National bank of Ukraine are analysed in the context of realization of tasks from overcoming of consequences of world financial crisis. The special attention is spared the necessity of increase of efficiency of percent policy and mechanisms of refunding, and also currency policy as important instruments of the monetary regulation in the context of their role in providing of optimum co-operation of financial and real sectors of national economy.

Velychko ADAMOV

Philosophy of management by money streams

The essence and features of forming money streams is exposed in the financial system of the state. The role of financial instruments is reflected in the redistribution of money resources and capital. Technologies of money streams motion and management by them through ductings of mediation and capital markets are described.

Oksana DESYATNYUK

Theoretical postulates of practical constructions of tax system

The structural elements of sphere of distribution of risks taxation are selected, the presence of dialectical is confirmed objectively subjective structures of these risks, and on this basis the system of postulates is formed in relation to the risks of constructions of the tax system.

Zhanna DOVGAN'

Competition environment in banking system of Ukraine in context of providing of it financial stability

The current progress of competition environment trends at the market of bank services of Ukraine are determined from a point of influence on the banking system stability. The scales of foreign capital influence on the development of bank competition in the context of threats of its firmness are grounded, the results of basic indicators of market concentration are analysed.

Nataliya TKACHUK

Subordinated liabilities as a source of increasing the banks capital

The economic essence of subordinated liabilities is revealed, which banks involve for increasing the capital. The characteristics of hybrid capital instruments and possibilities of their using for capital level and bank balance structure are investigated. The demands on the involving resources on conditions of subordinated debt according to Ukrainian legislation are considered.

Nataliya HALAPUP, Andriy BOBANYCH

Fund of guaranteeing of physical persons holdings: features of functioning and ways of perfection

A legislative base is examined on which Fund of guaranteeing of deposits of physical persons leans in the activity, the list of basic fundamental elements is illuminated for the analysis of efficiency of functioning of Fund of guaranteeing of deposits of physical persons and practical recommendations are pointed in relation to priority directions of perfection of activity of Fund of guaranteeing of deposits for bringing of him to conformity with the requirements of modern economic space

Oleg LUTSYSHYN

The organizational and economic mechanism of credit unions in lending

The essence and features of the organizational and economic mechanism of credit unions in lending are detailed. The dynamics and structure of loan portfolio quality of credit unions in Ukraine are analysed, the aspects of the problem are revealed and proposals to improve the business of credit unions in providing loans are outlined.

Nataliya TKACHENKO

Basic approach to the system of prudential regulation of insurance companies

The objectives, principles and methods for evaluating the financial stability of insurance companies are defined. The indicators are developed, that characterize the financial stability of insurance companies, taking into account the potential vulnerability to risks. The system of risk-based prudential regulation of their activities is proposed.

Olexandr ZALETOV

The influence of world crisis upon the modern market insurances in Ukraine

The essence global world economy and its influence upon insurance market are considered. The actions of the government regulation market insurances in modern condition are offered.

Taras MARSHALOK

Theoretic and methodologic conception of taxes setting

The detailed analysis of setting taxes process is conducted. The scientific opinion of different historical periods which touch motion of taxes and their setting between the subjects of economic relations are studied. It is set that research of this process depends on certain economic terms, level of economy development. It is proved that setting of taxes depends on a price, demand and supply on a commodity.

Iryna SYDOR

No tax receipts in the context of filling State and local budgets of Ukraine

Theoretical principles of native practice of mobilization no tax receipts are considered. The possibility of providing growth separate types of no tax receipts is grounded in profits State and local budgets of Ukraine.

Volodymyr MARTYNYUK, Bohdan KORETSKY

Theoretical foundations of price-forming process in payments for medical care services during the reform of health care system

Theoretical foundations in organization of Price-Forming Process are grounded in Payments for medical care services in Ukraine. Advantages and disadvantages in recommended by Ministry of health protection of Ukraine expenditure approach are explained to prices formation in the system of health protection. The models in prices formation for differentiated medical services are suggested.

Myroslava GUPALOVSKA

Efficiency of budgetary control: criteria of determination and priorities of increase

The basic theoretical going is considered near determination of concept "control efficiency", they are carried out walkthrough. Suggestions are grounded in relation to perfection of practice of estimation efficiency of budgetary control for help of integral indicator.

Tetyana ZATONATSKA, Olena SHYMANSKA

The international experience of fiscal policy formulation in after-crisis period

The international experience of fiscal policy measures harmonization is analysed on example of Poland, Hungary, Greece and Portugal. The features of after-crisis budget regulation and ways to reduce the budget deficit in these countries are examined. It is given recommendations to resolve mentioned problems in Ukraine and offer the model of budget policy estimation.

Tatyana KVASHA

The experience of the Russian Federation on regional distribution of state investments and lessons for Ukraine

With the purpose to determine the basic principles of quality management of budget funds and ensure the effectiveness, efficiency and transparency of their use in Ukraine the experience of the Russian Federation on investment regulation and distribution of public capital expenditure at the current stage is analysed.

Vasyl DEMIANYSHYN

The reading-book of inexhaustible resource, national financial science

Objective history evolution and renewal of historical justice concerning the formation and development of the national financial science have been confirmed by a unique classic publication release of the third volume of "Financial thoughts of Ukraine" ordered by the group of authors, edited by doctor of economic, professor V. Fedosov. This work is the first among the scientific projects in which achievements of the national scientists, economists, financial experts of XVIII–XX centuries about the financial thought evolution, are systematized as well as the classic exposition of the major research publications on the theory of finance, money circulation and credit of the above that period are defined.